09:30-09:50	Title of the presentation will be defined later Anna Popova, Head of Rospotrebnadzor
09:50-10:10	International Food Safety Standards and the need for harmonization of food safety risk assessment and risk management Ren Wang, Assistant Director General, FAO
10:10-11:00	Press point Coffee Break

11:00-11:40	Plenary Session Thursday, 18 May 2017	Session 2
Global Food Safety Risks 2017-2020 and beyond Plenary Session (part 2)

Anna Popova, Head of Rosпотребнадзор
Ren Wang, Assistant Director General, Agriculture and Consumer Protection Department, FAO
(Conference Co-Chairs)

11:00-11:20	Food safety: new risks and hazards Viktor Tutelyan, Head of Science of Federal Research Centre of Nutrition, Biotechnology and Food Safety, Moscow, Russian Federation
11:20-11:40	Impacts of increasing antimicrobial resistance and the FAO Action Plan 2016-2020 Silvia Kreindel, FAO
11:40-12:00	Food safety - chemical risk assessment in China Xudong Jia, Department of Toxicology, China National Centre for Food Safety Risk Assessment
12:00-13:30	Lunch

13:30-15:00	Parallel Sessions		Session 3
	Thursday, 18 May 2017		Session 4
13:30-13:35	Session 3: Principles and modern approaches in food safety risk assessment Chair: Markus Lipp, JECFA Secretariat, Scientific Advice, FAO	Session 4: Risk assessment strategies for novel foods and technologies Chair: Viktor Tutelyan, Federal Research Centre of Nutrition, Biotechnology and Food Safety
13:35-13:55	Hazard identification and characterization: Toxicological and analytical methodologies Markus Lipp, JECFA Secretariat, Scientific Advice, FAO	Nanomaterials in food products and their packaging: a comparative analysis of risks and benefits Ivan Gmoshinsky, Federal Research Centre of Nutrition, Biotechnology and Food Safety
13:55-14:15	Health Risk Assessment in Food Safety Standards Derivation Pavel Shur, FBSI "FSC for Medical and Preventive Health Risk Management Technologies"	Safety assessment of genetically modified food and risk evaluation. The Russian approach Nadezhda Tyshko, Federal Research Centre of Nutrition, Biotechnology and Food Safety
14:15-14:35	Risk assessment data to determine adequate risk management measures and development of appropriate analytical methods Stephan Walch, Chemical and Veterinary	Food allergen risk assessment Roland Poms, University of Vienna, Austria

	Investigation Department, Germany
14:35-14:55	Q&A and Session Summary	Food risk analysis and water safety factor Yuri Rahmanin, A.N. Sysin Research Institute of Human Ecology and Environmental Health, Russia
14:55-15:00		Q&A and Session Summary
15:00-15:30	Coffee Break

15:30-17:30	Parallel Sessions Thursday, 18 May 2017		Session 5 Session 6
15:30-15:35	Session 5: Risk assessment and risk management of microbial contaminants in foods Chair: Benjamin Chapman, North Carolina State University	Session 6: Antimicrobial resistance (AMR): risk assessment and possible strategies for risk reduction Chair: German Shipulin, FBIS "Central Research Institute of Epidemiology" Rospotrebnadzor, Russia
15:35-15:55	Food safety microbiological quality control: opportunities for modern instruments and methodologies Ivan Dyatlov, State Research Centre for Applied Microbiology and Biotechnology, Russia	Innovations in bacteriophage usage for sanitary and epidemiological practice: phage bioprocessing of food semi-products Andrei Aleshkin, G.N. Gabrichevsky Moscow Scientific Research Institute of Epidemiology and Microbiology
15:55-16:15	Key issues of veterinary pathology for food safety Denis Kolbasov, National Research Institute of Veterinary Virology and Microbiology, Russia	Practical aspects of on-farm reduction of antimicrobial use in high income and low- and middle income countries Jaap Wagenaar, Utrecht University, Netherlands
16:15-16:35	Enterohaemorrhagic Escherichia coli and other enterobacteria Jeff Lejeune, Ohio State University, USA	Title of the presentation will be defined later Zhandarbek Bekshin, Ministry of health of the Republic of Kazakhstan
16:35-16:55	Food and water borne viruses Kalie Kniel, University of Delaware, USA	Organization of antibiotic control of bacteria in food raw materials and food products in Eastern Europe and Central Asia German Shipulin, FBIS "Central Research Institute

		of Epidemiology" Rospotrebnadzor, Russia
16:55-17:15	Safety of bacteriophages to manage food borne infections Anisha Thanki , University of Leicester, UK	Biosecurity, good practices and other measures to reduce the use of antimicrobials throughout the food chain Eric Pierey, Ministry of Economic Affairs, Netherlands
17:15-17:30	Q&A and Session Summary	Q&A and Session Summary
18:30-20:30	Welcome Reception

Friday, 19 May 2017

09:00-10:40	Plenary Session Friday, 19 May 2017	Session 7
Plenary Session: International Risk Assessment Strategies in Practice
 Ren Wang, Assistant Director General, FAO Viktor Tutelyan, Federal Research Centre of Nutrition, Biotechnology and Food Safety
09:00-09:20	Health risk analysis of contaminants in food in Russian Federation Nina Zaitseva FBSI "FSC for Medical and Preventive Health Risk Management Technologies", Russia
09:20-09:40	Food safety risk assessment: an international perspective Markus Lipp, JECFA Secretariat, Scientific Advice, FAO
09:40-10:00	Food safety risk assessment in Belarus: international and national perspective Natalia Zhukova, Ministry of Health of the Republic of Belarus
10:00-10:20	Food safety risk assessment in a business/food manufacturing environment Robert Baker, Director, Mars Global Food Safety Centre
10:20-11:00	Coffee Break

11:00-14:00	Parallel Sessions	Session 8
--------------------	--------------------------	------------------

	Friday, 19 May 2017	Session 9
11:00-11:05	Session 8: Risk analysis and best practice examples for chemical food contaminants Chair: Valery Rakitskiy, F.F. Erisman Federal Scientific Centre of Hygiene, Russia	Session 9: Adulterated foods: food safety risk assessment and looking for the “unknown” Chair: David Crean, Mars
11:05-11:25	Incidents and impacts of chemical contaminants in food and feeds Stephan Walch, Chemical and Veterinary Investigation Department, Germany	Food fraud and consumer protection: recent cases of concern David Crean, Mars
11:25-11:45	Current problems linked with pesticide contamination of food Valery Rakitskiy, F.F. Erisman Federal Scientific Centre of Hygiene, Russia	Evaluation of food composition by DNA-barcoding methods and high-performance sequencing Anna Speranskaya, FBIS “Central Research Institute of Epidemiology” Rospotrebnadzor
11:45-12:05	The acrylamide risk assessment tool box Vural Gökmen, University of Ankara, Turkey	Business experience: Identification and termination of circulation on the market of juice products that do not comply with the relevant requirements Natalia Ivanova, Russian Union of Juice Producers
12:05-12:25	Heavy metals Anton Alldrick, Campden BRI, UK	Information tools and approaches for identifying and mitigating food fraud risks in the food supply Janet Balson, USP, USA
12:25-12:30	Q&A and Session Summary	Q&A and Session Summary
12:30 -14:00	Lunch

14:00-15:30	Parallel Sessions Friday, 19 May 2017	Session 10 Session 11
14:00-14:05	Session 10: Risk communication – strategies and best practice	Session 11: The socio-economics of food safety: “sufficient-nutritious-safe foods for everyone”

	Chair: Dafina Petrova, University of Granada, Spain	Chair: Peter Spencer, Oregon Health & Science University, USA
14:05-14:25	Risk communication from a regulatory perspective: from risk assessment to risk management Benjamin Chapman, North Caroline University, USA	Interrelationships of undernutrition and neurotoxicity: food for thought and research attention Peter Spencer, Oregon Health & Science University, USA
14:25-14:45	Risk communication and international trade Anton Alldrick, Campden BRI, UK	Food losses and food safety regulations: a cost benefit analysis Felicitas Schneider, First Zero Waste & Organic Cycle Organization, Austria
14:45-15:05	How to effectively communicate risks to diverse consumers: increasing comprehension and improving decisions Dafina Petrova, University of Granada, Spain	Populations at risk: malnutrition and undernourishment in underdeveloped and developed countries Joyce Kinabo, Sokoine University of Agriculture, Department of Food Science and Technology, Tanzania
15:05-15:25	Strategy and tactics of food safety risk communication Irina May, FBSI "FSC for Medical and Preventive Health Risk Management Technologies"	Food fortification for the population's health status improvement. Essential substances deficiency risks analysis Alla Kochetkova, Federal Research Centre of Nutrition, Biotechnology and Food Safety, Russia
15:25-15:30	Q&A and Session Summary	Q&A and Session Summary
15:30-16:00	Coffee Break

16:00-17:25	Parallel Sessions Friday, 19 May 2017		Session 12 Session 13
16:00-16:05	Session 12: Regulatory frameworks and international cooperation in assuring food safety Chair: Markus Lipp, FAO	Session 13: Training and capacity building in the area of food safety risk assessment and analysis Chair: Dmitry Nikityuk, Federal Research Centre of Nutrition, Biotechnology and Food Safety

16:05-16:25	Food Fraud Control in China Dr. Yongning Wu, China National Center for Food Safety Risk Assessment	Development and implementation of targeted educational programs in the field of food safety as a mechanism for reducing risks Dmitry Nikityuk, Federal Research Centre of Nutrition, Biotechnology and Food Safety
16:25-16:45	Food safety and consumer rights protection in the legislation of the Eurasian Economic Union Lidia Osaulenko, Eurasian economic commission	FAO's three dimensional approach to capacity building Eleonora Dupouy, FAO Regional Office for Europe and Central Asia
16:45-17:05	International food safety standards and national regulations: the role of WTO, FAO, WHO, and Codex Alimentarius in assuring safe foods being traded between countries Christiane Wolff, WTO	Capacity Development In Food And Nutrition Through Collaboration Of International Networks And International Collaborative Research Projects Mirjana Gurinovic, University of Belgrade, Serbia
17:05-17:25	Q&A and Session Summary	Q&A and Session Summary

17:30-18:00	<h2>Plenary Session</h2> Friday, 19 May 2017		Session 14
The final discussion
Anna Popova, Head of Rospotrebnadzor Ren Wang, Assistant Director General, Agriculture and Consumer Protection Department, FAO (Conference Co-Chairs)
17:30-17:45	Short summaries by the session chairs: Take home messages from each session
17:45-17:50	Conference final communique : Presentation and approval of a final communique of the conference
17:50-17:55	Closing remarks by the Russian conference chair (Rospotrebnadzor) Anna Popova, Head of Rospotrebnadzor
17:55-18:00	Closing remarks by the Russian conference co-chair (FAO) Ren Wang, Assistant Director General, FAO
